The Thanksgiving eve masquerade ball committee of the Y. M. C. I., has placed on exhibition in the show windows of Lutgens ice cream parlors two handsome prizes to be awarded to the best sustained lady and gentlemen characters. The lady's prize is a three-piece silver toilet set and that of the gentlemen is a silver shaving cup and brush. The affair promises to be the social event of the holiday season. A customer from San Francisco has been engaged for the occasion.

Ritzman Pleaded Guilty and is Released on Probation

John Ritzman, the aged carpenter, who took a shot at Mrs. Teresa Bell, a well-known San Francisco and Sonoma Valley woman, on her ranch near Glen Ellen some time since, was allowed to go on probation after he had pleaded guilty in Judge Seawell's department of the Superior court on Saturday. Sentence was suspended for two years and in the meantime Ritzman will report to Probation Officer John P. Plover, says the Press Democrat.

The case was deemed one in which clemency could be extended. The shot, it is said, was fired after considerable provocation--Ritzman has had a great deal of trouble, his wife is in a sanitarium and he has a number of children who are dependent upon him. Ritzman was represented by Attorney Roy Vitousek.

Congregational Church, Nov. 23

Morning worship 11 a. m.
What good is steam if it does not do something? What good is a belief if it does not make us have an effect on our conduct? Does a man believe a thing until he makes it into an energy? Do I believe in God--the God of civilization and do as I please. Can a man believe in God and not worship without acting a creed that he is also god. Your reasonable service is giving your body a living sacrifice to God. In the morning worship next Sunday we will consider what is reasonable service. God does not ask you to state your creed or tell your secret but he would be pleased to see you do good to all the human race and honor him.

Mrs. Luce will lead Y. P. S. C. E. in their worship next Sunday at 6:30 p. m.

Evening worship at 7:30 p. m.
In this service we aim to give good music and we think you would enjoy it. You have a standing invitation. We will try to show you the message of the gospel, the very heart of it. God wants to help you to live the most enjoyable way. Men seem to be afraid to be good lest they be miserable, but it is no more than a fear. Jesus gives the only philosophy of life that satisfies a thinker. We hope all people think.

Thanksgiving service in the M. E. Church next Thursday at 11 a. m. The whole town should appear before God in Thanksgiving. You are invited.

Resolutions of Protest

The following resolutions were adopted by Local Sonoma, Socialist Party of California, at a business meeting held Sunday, Nov. 16, 1913:

Whereas, On August 4th, 1913, at Wheatland, California, a number of migratory workers, to-wit: Hop-pickers, aggregating some two thousand people, were assembled in peaceful meeting for the purpose of discussing their grievances, and forming an organization for the relief of these grievances, which grievances consisted in robbery of their wages under the guise of a bonus system, in unsanitary conditions, in deprivation of drinking water at a time when the heat was over 100 degrees every day, and in other matters.

And whereas, While the said peaceful and orderly meeting was in progress the sheriff of Yuba county and the district attorney of Yuba county and numerous deputies came to said meeting with guns and the sheriff ordered the said meeting to disperse, and the deputies discharged guns into said peaceful and lawful meeting in consequence of which acts the district attorney and a deputy sheriff were killed, and two members of the crowd killed and other people injured.

And whereas, The militia was sent to Wheatland, and a number of men imprisoned and held illegally without being brought before a magistrate, and Burns detectives have been employed and several men subjected to cruel and illegal punishment, known as the third degree.

And whereas, Every effort is being made to force a verdict against innocent men, therefore be it Resolved, That Local Sonoma, of the Socialist Party of California, protests against the use of such illegal and third degree methods and that this organization urges every liberty-loving man and woman, to protest against these outrages and, if possible, to aid by contributing to the defense of the accused before it is too late, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to Gov. Hiram Johnson, the district attorney of Yuba County and to the editors of the local newspapers.

TUESDAY MORNING'S STORM A CORKER. SET FOR DEC. FIRST

The Precipitation for Ten Hours Was 2.15 Inches, Making the Total Precipitation for the Season up to Tuesday 5.25 Inches.

The storm which set in here at midnight Monday, culminated in a veritable downpour, the precipitation for the ten hours Tuesday morning being, according to local U. S. Signal Service Observer Robt. Hall, 2.15 inches.

The rain was a warm and soaking one and means thousands of dollars to the Sonoma Valley alone. The wild grasses are springing up with amazing rapidity and stock on the ranges is waxing fat, while the summer fallowed fields of hay and grain have got a splendid start.

Never in the history of Sonoma Valley has the season opened more auspiciously for the farmer, dairyman and stockraiser, and we expect every one of them to be driving an automobile before the close of the season, for these timely early winter rains spells prosperity for them.

Want Plans for Bear Flag Monument.

Wm. Von Hacht, Secretary of the monument committee of Sonoma Parlor, No. 111, N. S. G. W., invites competition in another column of a design for the Bear Flag Monument to be erected on the Sonoma Plaza and for which the State has appropriated $5,000. The competition is open to everybody and the successful designer will be awarded $25 cash.

Modern Railroad Methods

Exceptional care is exercised by the Southern Pacific Company to insure the purity of drinking water on its passenger trains, particularly when crossing the deserts. The supply is analyzed and certified by health officials at intervals, and the ice which is certified also, is never touched with an uncovered hand after it is washed at the ice house, being transported to the cars by the use of tongs, gloved hands and by buckets.

Water is purchased from the city of Los Angeles, which is the principal place for the division bearing its name, as well as for outgoing trains of the Coast and Valley lines. The ice purchased there is made from distilled water at the Pacific Fruit Express company's plant and stored in little houses, convenient to passenger stations. It is said that it may fit the ice coolers and is then thoroughly washed. Green-painted carts, provided with substantial covers to protect the contents from dust or foreign matter, are used to take the ice from storage to containers in the cars. The latter and the carts are carefully cleaned and sterilized from time to time, the company maintaining a special plant for this purpose. Every passenger car is taken care of in this respect before departing from Los Angeles.

The same methods and precautions are followed at Portland, Dunsmuir, Sacramento, Sparks, Fresno and Tieson. Diners in the northern sections are supplied with water from a far famed spring at Blue Canon in the Sierra Nevada's. The men engaged in handling ice are provided with white duck suits, a hat of the same material, and white rubber gloves, all furnished by the company. They are required to keep themselves neat and tidy at all times.

At Indi, the company has its own artesian wells and the trains stock up regularly at this point. The usual drinking water in Imperial Valley is taken from the muddy Colorado River, but the passengers as well as the company's waiting rooms in the Valley are supplied from Mecca, where the artesian flow is reputed the purest in California. The transportation of this is accomplished in twenty gallon cans moved on passenger trains. These are regularly sterilized. The waiting rooms also serve as supply houses for residents of the valley who believe walk worth while, even though the heat be oppressive. In addition to dispensing with the disagreeable public drinking cup, the Southern Pacific is installing automatic fountains at the important junction points, the water in these being ice-cooled.

I hereby appoint my niece, Georgie Andrews, to pay all my bills and collect all accounts due me up to date.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

We have a new pupil by the name of Murray Foster, who hails from New Hampshire. Welcome! We will have a full house yet.

An excuse. Cicero was sick last week and that was the reason there were no High School notes. Sickness was probably due to an over celebration of Stanford's overwhelming victory.

Word has reached Cicero that a movement is in the air to organize the Alumni of the Sonoma High School. Such a thing would be a great boost. Go to it. You have the support of the school.

The Sheet and Pillow Case dance which was given by the Junior Class on the 7th inst. was reported in other columns of this paper. Cicero's opinion is that it was one grand success. Although the crowd was rather small, everyone there had a good time. The music was furnished by the Pauli orchestra.

NEW GRAMMAR SCHOOL BOND PROPOSITION

Mr. Carl Dresel's Address to the Men and Women Voters of the District in Favor of Bonding.

To the Voters of Sonoma School District—Dear Madam and Sir: I was somewhat disappointed last Saturday to find a meagre attendance at the Grammar School meeting. Out of 125 signers of heads of families requesting the Board of School Trustees to call for a bond election less than thirty appeared.

This is not what it should be. The Trustees need encouragement and if the public in general seems indifferent it is a kind of cold shower to dampen their efforts. However, if the number of fellow citizens at Saturday's meeting was small every one present showed laudable interest and opinions were freely expressed.

The plans for the building that the Trustees have selected as their choice are to be seen at the Sonoma library building, and a sketch of the front elevation is exposed to view in the window of Mrs. Lutgens's ice cream parlors.

In regard to the conception of the plans I wish to say that it is the result of serious study. Several years ago I had conversations with architect Lutgens concerning the need of an adequate school building for the Sonoma district. Mr. Lutgens, a graduate of the old grammar school and a native of this valley, has worked faithfully consulting all available plans of modern structures of the kind, and the result, a labor of love, is eminently a perfectly appointed grammar school building well adapted to our needs. Economy, wherever possible without detriment to efficiency, has been practiced and the architecture of the building is quiet and pleasing—no unnecessary towers or fol-de-rols to enhance the cost and make a stir in the world. In short it is gentlemanly, or if you prefer, lady-like, in appearance.

It gives you six detached classrooms capable of seating 280 pupils, with provision of extension in the future for two additional classrooms seating 90 pupils more. The class-room is of the exact size that experience has demonstrated as perfect. It accommodates 50 primary or 45 grammar grade pupils, more than this number a single teacher is not capable of handling to advantage—the voice will not carry in a larger room, nor will the light be perfect.

The light falls from the left upon the pupil's desk from a bunch of large windows reaching close to the ceiling. Each class-room has a cloak-room—no connection with the corridor—so that pupils are marched through one door, depositing wraps, etc., and emerge from the other to take their seats. No chance for a sneak thief to enter the cloak-room except through the class-room.

The class-rooms are detached, so that the noise in one cannot interfere with the studies in the others. The rooms of the entire first floor are fourteen feet high. The class-room floor is divided by a large corridor from which the pupils can enter directly into the upper story of the assembly room, from where the entire school may attend moving picture lectures. Independent stairs lead to the assembly room below.

Rooms for the accommodation of teachers, office and reception room for the principal are provided.

Heating, according to methods universally adopted in new public buildings, is effected by forcing fresh heated air through registers near the ceiling, expelling the impure air from registers at the floor, thereby preventing any kind of draught and furnishing a uniform temperature for the entire class-room. The same arrangement is used in summer time for ventilating purposes to renew a constant supply of fresh air.

The basement, the floor of which is above the level of the school yard, provides a large room to the left of the main entrance for domestic services and janitor's room, and a large hall for manual training to the right of the main entrance. Then a large corridor and beyond a play-ground hall for boys, with toilets to accommodate an eight-class school. Next a boiler room for fanning machinery to heat the building. Then a large play-room for the girls, with toilet arrangements, also calculated for a full-fledged grammar school.

To the left of the building is the main entrance to the assembly hall at the end of the main entrance to the outside—entrances being provided from the interior halls for the school inmates. The assembly hall is provided with stage at one end, gallery at the other even with first floor, seating 250 persons. This hall may also be used as an in-door gymnasium, as the apparatus may be so arranged as to be drawn to the ceiling or unhooked easily, clearing the hall for any civic assembly.

All needs for a perfect grammar school have been provided, and in the construction the greatest care has been taken to insure economy without detriment to utility. In fact I believe it as perfect a plan and as cheap as can reasonably be expected. I have seen a number of plans, some of which are very handsome structures, but none of which the interior arrangement so eminently met the requirements of a modern school as these plans of Mr. Lutgens.

I am therefore thoroughly convinced that the Board of Trustees has done the right thing in advocating this plan. The building as proposed will cost $30,000. An issue of thirty bonds bearing interest at 5 1/2 per cent, redeemable at the rate of one bond yearly, would I am sure, prove a desirable investment and probably would yield us a handsome premium.

At the present assessment of the district the burden of taxation would be increased 26 1/2 cents per $100, still considerably lower than the burden borne by nearly all the rest of the districts in the county.

These taxes, however, would soon be reduced materially by the reduction of the principal yearly of $1,000, by the natural increase of values in the district and especially by the acquisition of new settlers in our valley. This is sure to come if you can show them a perfect school, and when you have by the Black Point cut-off reduced the distance to San Francisco fifteen miles.

Therefore I ask you, for the sake of our children, for the material benefit of Sonoma and the valley in general and for the sake of our civic pride to vote for an issue of $30,000 bonds for the purpose of constructing the above proposed grammar school building.

I now wish to answer a few criticisms: Why did we not submit a variety of plans at the meeting for discussion? Because it takes a great deal of time to study a plan thoroughly, make comparisons and select the best. It required three members of the board, months to decide upon the best plan according to their lights. How long would it take 28 persons (number present at meeting) or more to do the same thing satisfactorily?

It is true, we might have submitted a first, second and third choice, limiting the expense to 30-25 and 20 thousand dollars. But the Board is unanimous in the idea that we need a perfect grammar school and not a make-shift.

The most serious objection is, that a respectable class of people who, under the plea of already being overtaxed, object to increase the taxes by building a school that is beyond the actual, present need.

The "actual present need" is a fallacy. What is our present need? It is not our need of yesterday, for if it was, yesterday is passed beyond redemption.

It is not our need of today alone for we hope our children will live tomorrow, therefore tomorrow's needs must be provided for and become our present care.

The health of our children, absolutely disregarded in the past, domestic training, manual training, physical training all are as important, if not more so, than the acquisition of the three R's, and tomorrow will demand the chance in our public school buildings for such requirements.

To erect a building without such facilities would be burdening the next generation with a tax entirely useless, our children would have to erect such a building as we propose today at probably a greater cost than we can build today, and would besides have to pay the tax upon the structure which we mistakenly shouldered them with.

Respectfully,
CARL DRESEL,
Clerk of Board.

VINEBURG NEWS ITEMS

"Easy Jim" Tells in an Interesting Way all About the Week's Happenings in and Around His Section of the Valley.

Miss Myrtle Hardy is at present the guest of friends in the Exposition City.

W. W. Erskine was a guest at his country home on the Hyde tract on Saturday and Sunday.

Miss May Bosch is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Morris Levy at the Hotel Mervyn, Glen Ellen.

Henry Hyde of the metropolis was here Saturday and Sunday looking after his real estate interests.

The many friends of Miss Hettie Voight will be pleased to hear that she has returned home much improved in health.

Philip Bill, Jr., foreman on the Hyde estate, is making some substantial improvements around the Old Homestead.

A. Rice has completed a pretty two-story residence on the Napa road north of Vineburg. Quite an improvement to that section.

Jim Small was entertained at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Groskopf, Sr., Whispering Pines, on the Napa road on Friday evening.

Our ex-Mayor was seen one day last week with a new kind of motor car. It has four wheels and you walk behind it—a suit case and a baby carriage inside. The car does all the work. Get out a patent, Jake.

There is nothing wakes up the people as much as a good down-pour of rain, especially after a long spell of dry weather and the farmers in this vicinity are now engaged in sowing seed of all kinds. Over 700 sacks were sold at Batto's warehouses in the last few days.

DOLL SHOW.

The Doll Show given by the pupils of the grammar school was both socially and financially a great success. Over sixty-five dolls were entered. There was the old fashioned rag doll in her plain calico, the wee mite of a doll hidden in the half of a walnut shell, the gorgeously dressed young Miss, some three feet in height, sporting the finest of silks and ribbon and then the almost human doll that could really walk, talk and cry—the mechanical doll.

An excellent program consisting of songs, dialogues, drills and recitations was rendered by the children. A little act entitled "The Sick Doll" with Evelyn Poble as the mother, Zolita Clerici as the sympathetic friend, and Georgie Reed as the doctor, was especially well presented in a very creditable manner. A committee of the older boys and girls had beautifully decorated the hallways and classrooms with ferns and white chrysanthemums and the old dingy rooms, for a time at least, laid aside their dreary and depressing aspect and assumed something of a festive appearance.

The cash booths were particularly well patronized, the sum of $12.20 being realized from the sale. The supply was found entirely inadequate to the demand, such fine tasting candy had the girls made. Three of the lady visitors kindly consented to act as judges of the dolls and deliberated the following awards were made:

First—Largest Doll, No. 23, entered by Irma Adler. Prize "Pearl" necklace.

Second—Best dressed Doll, No. 24, entered by Verna Quartaroli. Prize Large Blue Bird Pin.

Third—Prettiest Doll, No. 19, entered by Clara Williams. Prize Blue Bird Pin.

Fourth—Best character Doll, No. 20, entered by Marie Bernard. Prize Beauty Pins.

Fifth—Oldest Doll, 68 years of age, No. 18, entered by Helen Gassner. Prize Old Gold Pin.

Sixth—Smallest Doll—No. 12, entered by Lucinda Cota. Prize Small Beauty Pins.

The children and teachers are much pleased to have had their efforts so greatly appreciated by the big audience that was present and they know that after having sat crowded together on improvised benches made of boards and boxes in rooms not sufficiently large to accommodate the children alone each and every visitor went away resolved to be a booster for a new school building that will provide the conveniences, to which the children and public are justly entitled.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of J. C. Watson

Vineburg, Nov. 20, 1913.

Easy Jim: I have often thought of writing to you to ask what has become of all your fair assistants. We hear no more of pretty Ethel Eastlake, bright and stately Viola Vineburg, witty Minnie Madden, versatile Olivia Oliver and happy Sallie Schellville. Those were the only ones whose "chic" Vineburg articles published in the Index-Tribune made this part of the valley shire. Please let me know? I hope they are all well and happy.

Friends of mine got an idea into their heads that mallard and canvas back ducks were good eating, and sure they are, but after floating over the tules for fifteen hours and wasting a case of gasoline they came to the conclusion the idea was only a dream. Home again.

I hear the Native Sons are going to give a grand minstrel entertainment in Sonoma on December 6th. That will be fine. People who saw their last show all say, and I agree with them, that it was the classiest first part ever seen in Sonoma. Leave it to the Sons and you will be sure to enjoy yourselves.

Madam Gossip says that Mayor John Murray will build a half a mile race track and that our Willie will lay out an up-to-date base ball park next summer. That's the way to talk. Who says there is no money in Vineburg politics?

Don't forget to let me know about the ladies.

Yours as ever, Jessie Jay.

Harvey Perkins, the well-known and popular young railroad man of Sonoma, was acting as agent here on Saturday and Sunday last during agent Grove Rubke's absence in the city.

W. Beyers, the energetic and popular traveling man of the Frank Peterson Co. of the Bay City, transacted business at Batto's spur on Thursday.

Easy Jim.

Vineburg, Nov. 19, 1913.

Mrs. Henry Wicker entertained the bridge club, including the gentlemen, at her home on Second street East Thursday evening. It being the opening party of the season of the next series of card parties. Handsome prizes, consisting of hand painted china, were awarded Miss Annie Pemberton and Mr. Holz for scoring the highest. The house was prettily decorated in autumn leaves and during the evening tempting refreshments were served by the amiable hostess.

Send your letter heads, envelopes, business cards, etc., to the Index-Tribune. We will print them right and our prices will be right.

THIS IS JOHN C. PAYNE

Who will appear at the Don Theatre on Tuesday evening next with the California Jubilee Quartet.

This talented singer has a most wonderful lyric-soprano and baritone combination of voices. When he changes in the middle of a song the effect is almost startling and the people are often at a loss to know just how to take it. This man soprano goes to "D" above the staff and trills the higher notes like a well trained soprano.

Mr. Payne appears rigged out in a stylish gown and many in the audience believe they are listening to a lady—who had been concealed behind the scenes.

Hear him on Tuesday night next with the Colored Jubilee Singers at the Don Theatre. Admission fifty and twenty-five cents.

Back from Vacation in Ireland.

Rev. Father Comerford, the good pastor of St. Francis church, has returned from a three-month's vacation in Ireland. The reverend gentleman was not only warmly greeted by his parishioners but by the general public of Sonoma Valley as well, as he is one of our most popular divines. He will occupy the pulpit of St. Francis church tomorrow.

George W. Samuel, who has been visiting here, returned to the city one day this week.

John Summers, the well-known horseman of Jack London's, was in town this week.

O. Cobb returned to this burg Thursday after spending a few days in Santa Rosa on business.

The N. W. P. R. R. is building a new round house here and when finished will be second to none on the line.

The grand opening of Harry's Inn last Saturday night was a big success in every way. People from all over the valley, some came from San Francisco, to join in the merry making. The music was furnished by Prof. Bailey of the State Home and consisted of some of the most up-to-date dance pieces. Joe Trusty had charge of the farm yard dinner and he certainly tickled the palates of all those present with the barn yard fowl. There will be a Xmas prize ball in a few weeks. Every one will receive a Xmas prize from a jumbo Xmas tree. Harry Wilkins, the proprietor, made every one feel at home and when the hour of two came all hands voted success to Harry's Inn.

Annual Fall Bazaar

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational Church is making preparations for its Annual Fall Bazaar and Entertainment to take place on Friday evening, December 12th, at Union Hall.

A large number of handsome rag rugs are on hand this year and a good assortment of dressed dolls at popular prices, and there will be a grab bag for the children. The entertainment committee are rehearsing a very bright and amusing farce entitled "Parson Poor's Donation Party," containing many numbers of fine vocal and instrumental music, besides plenty of laughs and quaint costumes. Don't forget the date.
